Summer Attendance

We understand the summer is ideal for family trips, vacations, etc. We also know many students participate in band, sports, and have other summer obligations aside from Upward Bound.

However, due to the amount of course-work students will have to make-up in their Upward Bound classes we highly discourage students from missing more than one week of our summer program.

Participation in our end-of-summer trip is contingent on grades from summer courses.

Although it is not mandatory for students to attend the summer program, many find it to be their favorite part of Upward Bound. Students regularly indicate the summer program prepared them for classes during their upcoming year of high school, but it also allows students to better adjust to college and makes the experience less daunting.

What is the Upward Bound Summer Program?

Our summer program takes place on ETSU's campus for about 5 weeks each summer. This is a residential program where students live in dorms and are mentored and supervised by our summer staff. The summer program allows students to experience what college life is like.

Students take academic subjects such as mathematics, science, writing, literature, & foreign language. Enrichment courses vary each year and allow students to learn different skills & subjects from their Resident Advisors. Some past course offerings include art, dance, yoga, debate, leadership, & sports.

Regular recreation activities and opportunities for cultural activities are available to students during the summer program.

As with all other aspects of the Upward Bound program, participation in the summer program comes at no cost to students. All lodging and meal fees are paid for by the program and academic supplies are provided for students.

Check-in / Check-out

Paperwork needed to move-in to the dorms

We will be sending out packets to students and parents with a lot of information and permission forms for our summer program. Make sure we have your current address if you've moved since last summer (or since being accepted into the program if this is your first year in Upward Bound).

Students must bring handbook & participation, medical, and transportation permission forms, or have a parent/guardian with them at summer move-in, in order to move into the dorms. Students who do not have the necessary paperwork or have someone with them to complete the required documents will not be able to move into the dorms and begin the summer program until their paperwork is completed.

Sunday check-in

Students should arrive at the dorms between 6pm-8pm on Sundays. There will not be any supervision in the dorms before 6pm as no staff is on duty during that timeframe. Students are not permitted to be at the dorms unsupervised. Students need to arrive Sunday evenings having already eaten dinner since there are no meals provided on Sundays.

Wednesday check-out

Every Wednesday is Family Night (4pm-9pm) where students have the option to check-out and be with their family for a few hours. This is not mandatory, but serves as a nice way for students to spend time with family during the week.

Friday check-out

Students need to check-out each Friday between 1:30pm-4pm at the dorms. During the afternoons, we will offer a variety of activities (swimming, volleyball, & hang out in dorm lobby) for students as they wait to be picked up. No staff is on duty after 4:00pm, so arrangements need to be made to pick up students during the indicated timeframe.

Students do not need to move out more items than necessary each week. Many only choose to take home laundry to wash over the weekend.

Check-in / check-out procedure

With the exception of the summer dorm move-in process, students may arrive on campus without a parent/guardian present. Students must check-in with a staff member when they enter the dorms. Students cannot stay in the dorms over the weekends. A parent or guardian on a student's approved check-out list must come inside the dorm and show ID in order to check students out of the program. Please make sure all people you grant permission to check-out your student are aware of this procedure.

Students with check-out permission

Students who receive parent/guardian permission to check-out themselves, through our summer paperwork, are only authorized to leave campus during the typical Wednesday and Friday check-out times. If students need to check-out during times other than Wednesday evening and Friday afternoon, Upward Bound will need to receive authorization from a parent/guardian.

Other Dates

Class Changes (due: May 15)

If you need to change your summer class schedule, email Emily Grater (GRATERE@etsu.edu) with your class requests and include reasons why you want to change.

Athletic Release (due: May 15)

Upward Bound students can have access to the ETSU gym during the summer program, but only if they have a note from a coach. These notes must be turned in to Tiffany Brown (ZTNB12@etsu.edu).

Summer ACT

Students who register to take the June 9th ACT \(on ETSU campus\) will be eligible to stay in their dorms the night before to be ready to test on Saturday morning. Supervision and meals will be provided Friday evening and Saturday morning prior to the ACT.

The registration deadline for this ACT test date is May 4th.

You can use a UB fee waiver to sign up for the test if you will be a rising junior or senior this summer.

Don't forget about ePrep, the online ACT prep resource you get for free through Upward Bound. Just ask us and we can get you signed up with your email address.

We request students notify us of their plans, in advance, by including the ACT test weekend in your summer paperwork as an important date to be noted.

Worried about getting homesick?

It's okay to be homesick during the summer program. For some of you, this may be your first summer with Upward Bound. For others, this may be your first time away from home. Even returning students may experience homesickness.

Many students are excited for our summer program, but still feel scared or nervous at times. If you're feeling homesick, it doesn't mean you are weird. It just means you might need some helpful strategies. Try these tips for a more enjoyable summer experience:

1. Talk to people: RAs and permanent staff are here to help and listen when you need to talk with someone. Talk to some older UB students as well. They've been in your shoes.

2. Stay busy: Get involved with activities in your dorm and participate in evening recreation events.

3. Connect with others: Engaging with other students and staff will keep your mind off being homesick. Sitting alone and reflecting too much may make it harder to stay positive and have fun.

4. Stay in touch: Call, text, or email your family and friends when needed. Parents can sign you out on Wednesday nights to hang out or go get dinner. Use your weekends to catch up with friends and family.

5. Give it a week: Students who commit to at least one full week of the Upward Bound summer program are more likely to feel better and be less homesick.

Resolving Roommate Conflicts

Address potential issues before they turn into conflicts. Some students may wish to informally chat while settling into the dorms. While others may decide to write out an official "roommate agreement." Either way, it can be helpful to talk to your roommate about potential conflicts before they arise.

How clean do you want to keep the dorm room? How do each of you define clean? What is a reasonable time to go to bed at night, and wake up each morning? How will you share common spaces like closets, counter tops, etc.? Most issues roommates experience can be solved before they even become a conflict.

Communicate. Communication is super important when trying to solve roommate conflicts. If your roommate is doing something that bothers you, talk about it. Don't keep it to yourself and hope it changes. Chances are she/he may not even realize it's a problem.

Ask your roommate to sit down to talk at a time when you are both calm. Then, clearly communicate to them what is bothering you and why. Don't beat around the bush – a direct, but respectful, approach is best.

Try to empathize and understand each other. When working through conflicts, try to put aside your desire to "win" the fight. Instead, say what the conflict is from your view and ask for your roommate to share their views as well. Then, put yourself in their shoes and try to understand where they are coming from.

Avoid yelling, insulting, or bringing up past issues. If the conflict gets too heated, step away and come back to the conversation later. Never bring other friends into the conflict or gossip about each other. Keep it between the two of you.

Remember, we are all different and that's a good thing! Your roommate may have completely different habits, interests, and personality traits than you. Try to embrace your differences and even learn from each other. Respect and appreciate your roommate for the person they are.

If you can't work it out on your own, let Upward Bound staff help you. Talk to an RA, RD, or permanent staff member – that's what we're here for! Sometimes, having a third party to act as a mediator can really help in resolving a problem.

Other considerations

- Being a roommate is a new experience for most people
- Some people have never shared a room with someone else
- Even for an experienced Upward Bound student, living arrangements can be complicated and vary from year to year
- Communication and helping each other along the way can make dorm life one of the best parts of UB Summer!

Learning from summer staff

Resident Advisors and Resident Directors are a great source of information and advice about college. They are all here to be mentors to our students and to help each of you with your goal of going to college. Make the most of your time with the RAs this summer by getting to know them and learning from their experiences.

Try to ask questions like these to as many of our summer staff as you can to get a better sense of what it is like to be a college student:

- What college do/did you attend? How did you decide on that school?
- What do you want to do for your career? What is your major? How did you decide on that major?
- What's your favorite thing about college? What is your least favorite thing about college?
- What's your favorite class you've taken in college?
- What was the hardest thing to adjust to when you started college? How did you handle the adjustment?
- What do you wish you would have known or done differently in high school to help you prepare for college?

Parking

Students

If you will be parking a vehicle on ETSU campus during the summer program, you will be issued a temporary parking permit by Upward Bound upon your arrival to campus for dorm move-in.

Parents/Guardians

One Parking Permit will be mailed to each household along with our summer paperwork. This will be necessary for times when you are parked on campus to drop off or pick up your student at the dorms and attend events such as Talent Show or Awards Day.

All Drivers

Permits should be placed in your front dashboard on the driver's side of the vehicle. You are limited to parking only in Student (indicated by gold curb marking) or Faculty/Staff (indicated by blue curb marking) parking lots for the duration of the Upward Bound summer program. Be sure to read over the fine print on your parking pass before you park on campus. A complete list of parking rules and regulations can be found on the Office of Parking Services website (www.etsu.edu/parking). Be sure to pay attention to signage before parking your vehicle. If you accidentally park in Disability, Service Vehicle, or Resident Director spaces, or violate any other parking rules which incur a parking fine, it will be your responsibility to pay those fines. Please know that Upward Bound cannot pay any parking fees accrued by our students and their visitors, either during the academic year or during our summer program.
