

Figure 2. Percentage of Tennesseans who feel that colleges and universities are important for continuing education, promoting personal growth, improving earning potential, providing career training, providing skills and knowledge training, and promoting intellectual growth by generation.

