

Figure 4. Percentage of women and men who say that colleges and universities are important for ensuring equal access, providing continuing education and improving earning potential.

