This experiential learning-based, hybrid design-art history course focuses on the complex intersections of cultural heritage, curation of museum collections and monuments, tourism, and user-centered design. Through a combination of in-class seminar discussions of scholarship on issues pertinent to the course theme, on-site field research, and post-visit group exercises and collaborative workshops, students will hone their critical awareness of, and analytical sensitivity to, the ways that museums, archaeological sites, and historical monuments are curated and presented to their various publics: What curatorial and design decisions have been made? What explicit or implicit logic or motivations inform these decisions? Which groups or narratives are acknowledged and/or endorsed? Which groups or narratives are omitted? How do these decisions support, challenge, or nuance dominant histories associated with these sites, collections, and monuments? In other words, what role do these curatorial decisions play in the construction and maintenance of specific notions of cultural heritage (local, regional, national, international, hemispherical, global)? How does the discipline of design participate in these acts of curation, by framing the lens(es) through which the public – with their diverse user personas – experience and interface with the past? Or, to reformulate the words of historian David Lowenthal, how do the stewards of cultural heritage use curation and design to reanimate the past for the purposes of the present? Working in multidisciplinary teams, students will collaborate on bibliographic and site-specific research, engaging critically with a series of three case studies, each of which are drawn from a distinct period of Greek history: 1) the Athenian Acropolis; 2) the Byzantine monastery of Daphni; and 3) the Bath House of the Winds and Tzisararakis Mosque. Students will adopt the position of the user as they seek, through iterative and immersive visits, to identify the existing strengths of these sites and opportunities for improving the user experience (ranging from practical matters like wayfinding to interpretative issues). Trips to additional museums and cultural monuments outside Athens will provide further opportunities for students to deepen their knowledge of Greek history and culture; to apply the analytical frameworks and skills that are being developed through their case studies; and, ultimately, to integrate these individual sites into a synthetic understanding of how they relate to larger, more encompassing notions of Greece and its cultural heritage.
